The Debt Question. The Petersburg Index-Appeal maintains that the debt question will continue at least during the present year to be an issue as between the Coxilitionists and the Democrats. And by way of a clincher to its argument, our contemporary puts the following question to us. We quote:

"We ask our contemporary of the Disnow if he were a member of the ment many millions of dollars. Legislature (and we mean no disrespect by the supposition) would be vote for or against the repeal of the coupon-killer law if it became a question?"

The voters of Virginia have twice decided at the ballot-box that they will not pay the debt of Virginia as ascertained by the funding bill of 1871, nor as ascertained by the on the subject have declared it to be their away a victory.
